

MR. DAY'S DEATH

Casts a Gloom Over the Community Where He Was Beloved.

MET HIS END IN THE MINES.

Funeral Yesterday Under Auspices of United Order of the Golden Cross.

Tuesday evening shortly after 6 o'clock, the appalling news spread like wildfire over our city that Mr. J. W. Day, the mine foreman of No. 9 mine, had met his death by falling under a trip of empty cars. The sad tidings were flashed over the wires to friends and relatives, and in a short time hundreds of people were informed of his unexpected death. His wife was absent from home visiting friends in Hopkinsville, but the awful news soon reached her, and she returned on the first train to a home unexpectedly made desolate. Early next morning a jury was impeached by the remains, heard the evidence and returned the following verdict:

We the jury agree and find that the deceased, J. W. Day came to his death on the evening of September 26, 1900, by falling beneath a train of bank cars, said falling most likely being induced by heart trouble, for which he had been treated for some time by local physicians.

J. W. TWYMAN,
DAVE VINCENT,
J. R. DEAN,
L. W. RICE,
D. C. WILLIAMS,
LEE OLDRHAM.

The funeral was conducted under the auspices of the United Order of the Golden Cross. The Rev. J. F. Story made an impressive talk at the home of the deceased to a large audience of relatives and friends, after which the remains were consigned to their last resting place in the Earlinton cemetery, followed by a vast concourse of sorrowing ones.

Mr. Day was born January, 1848, near Hamby Station in Hopkins county and lived within the confines of the county all his life. He was the third of four children and a brother to the well known Jack Day, lately deceased. On December 20, 1866, he was united in marriage to Miss Fannie Hamby, with whom he lived happily until his decease. He was an exemplary member of the Christian Church from his eighteenth year, and although decided in his views he was free from bigotry or strenuous sectarianism.

For fourteen years and one month he had fully discharged every arduous duty pertaining to the foremanship of the most important mine in the Western coal field to the satisfaction of the management and the praise and content of those under his control. His official place will be hard to supply, and as a citizen, neighbor and friend, he leaves behind an aching void, never to be filled while his memory lasts.

He was a charter and an active member of the Golden Cross, in which order he carried a policy of $2,000. At one time in life he was an Odd Fellow, but had severed his connection with that order.

Let us strive to imitate his example, cherish his memory and remember that the works of a good man are more imperishable than a monument of stone. There is a future, oh thank God; of life, this is so small a part; it is dead to dust beneath the sod. But then up there, it's heart to heart.

COUNTY POLITICS.

EDITOR BEE:

Democrats are not alarmed. You can't scare a Democrat. Hopkins is sure to go Democratic by at least 500. But the boys need exercise so the "boys" are ordered out to encourage the strong, strengthen the weak and reclaim the erring. All approve of the course. The more speakers they send the easier it will be for the Republicans to succeed. In 1896 they sent every man and woman that they could get for love or money (although the Democrats have no boodle) out in the highways and hedges to increase the majority, but the majority did not increase. Something was wrong that they could not account for. What was the matter? Why the "blasted Republicans stole the election." In 1899 they said they would see to it that if any stealing was done they would be the ones to do it.

Once more the "old guard" was drummed to the front. With drums beating and colors flying they again entered the field and proceeded to demolish the Republicans. But they would not be demolished, and on the morning of the election came to the front and with a quiet smile proceeded to smash the Democratic slate and now the conflict is raging again. But this time the Democrats say the Republicans have made a fatal mistake in nominating Mr. Lynch for Congress and proceed to show that there are not as many Republicans and Brown Democrats together as there are Republicans alone, which is just as logical as saying that five added to nine only makes eight. We doubt their sincerity. It always seemed to us that the more mistakes our opponents make the better it is for us. A LOO CABIN VOTER.

RICHLAND WILL ORGANIZE

Yerkes Club to Meet Next Week—Thos. E. Finley to Speak.

The Republicans of Richland will organize a Yerkes club Friday night, October 5, at which meeting Thos. E. Finley and possibly others will speak. The meeting will be held in Richland church. This club was to have been organized last Friday, but the Republicans gave way to the Populists who were addressed that evening by Mr. Graham.

Hon. Will Graham spoke at Richland Friday night last for the Populists. He arraigned the Goebel law and Goebelin severely, calling it "imperialism in Kentucky."

Our good friend J. J. Lipscomb is the possessor of a very large pair of pants—for so small a man—and the boys are inclined to have some fun at his expense. But he turns the joke by saying that he is in favor of expansion and is preparing to expand more when McKinley is re-elected next November.

JOINT DEBATE.

Hon. N. B. Chambers and Congressman Henry D. Allen at Nebo.

Nebo, Sept. 26.—The joint debate here last night between Hon. N. B. Chambers, Chairman of the Second Congressional District Republican Committee and Congressman Henry Allen resulted in a manner most pleasing to the Republicans here, and the general impression prevails that Mr. Allen has had enough joint debate to satisfy him for a while. It is not believed here that he will consent to meet Mr. Chambers at Earlinton in joint debate tonight.

MR. BECKHAM SPOKE.

Was introduced by John Brasher to a Large Crowd at Madisonville.

MANY REPUBLICANS HEARD HIM.

Mr. Beckham spoke to a large crowd in the Tabernacle at Madisonville Monday. Ex-Governor McCreary and Congressman Allen also spoke. Monday was the first day of the September term of circuit court, the speaking had been well advertised and there was a large crowd of people in town.

There were many Republicans and quite a number of ladies in the audience, many of whom went for the purpose of satisfying their curiosity as to the personal appearance and eloquent powers of the young man who is filling the office to which another man was elected. The general sentiment was that he looks younger than they say he is.

Mr. Beckham was introduced by John B. Brasher. Congressman Allen spoke first and Mr. McCreary finished the speaking.

BROWN DEMOCRATS

Open State Headquarters With Capt. W. H. Sweeney in Charge.

The headquarters of the Brown Democratic organization are now open, and the work of the campaign is being taken up in earnest.

The Hon. Arthur Wallace, chairman of the State Campaign Committee, will preside over the rooms allotted to the local contingent of the Honest Election Democracy, while the Hon. John W. Headley will act as Secretary. Captain W. H. Sweeney will have charge of the State department in the headquarters.

WILL MAKE A STRONG FIGHT.

Many Able Brown Democrats to Take to the Stump.

Lebanon, Ky., Sept. 25.—The Hon. W. H. Sweeney, chairman of the Brown State Campaign Committee, said today that the Honest Election Democrats intend to make their campaign this fall a vigorous and a memorable one.

A number of the best speakers in the State, among whom are Gov. John Young Brown, Theo. Hallam, W. C. Owens, Geo. M. Adams, J. C. Speight and Capt. Sweeney himself, will represent the independent Democrats on the stump. An effort is now being made to get Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge to make several speeches, one to be delivered here. Hallam will open the campaign with a speech at the Louisville Auditorium on the night of September 28.

MEMBERSHIP INCREASED.

St. Charles McKinley and Yerkes Club Now Numbers More Than One Hundred.

MR. CHAMBERS SPOKE TUESDAY NIGHT.

News of General Nature in the Busy Mining Town.

St. Charles News.

C. G. Robinson, of Earlinton, was in town last Monday. A few of our citizens attended the Democratic rally in the county seat Monday.

Nearly everybody who could get conveyance went to the big show at Madisonville last Saturday. The free ice water on the steps of the city furnished by the city authorities was highly appreciated by the people.

Helon Estelle Vickers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Vickers, aged two years, died here last Thursday. The remains were taken to Sallor's Rest, Tenn. for burial.

The Hon. N. B. Chambers, of Owensboro, made a rousing speech here last Monday night. The large and commodious new hall was filled with attentive listeners. Both town and country were fully represented. The speakers reviewed the policies of the two great parties and pointed out their effects upon the people. He showed that the Democratic party of today was irresponsible and untrustworthy, and that its teaching was degrading and otherwise injurious both to the moral and material welfare of the American people. Mr. Chambers made a good impression upon our people and was frequently applauded. After the speaking twenty-five voters were enrolled with the McKinley and Yerkes Club making a total of one hundred and three. The club meets every Monday night and all lovers of liberty are invited to attend.

A. N. Franklin, of near Charleston, owns a ewe which brought two lambs on March 30, and two more on September 15 of the present year. All are doing well.

SCHOOL OPENED

Good Attendance on Opening Day and Classes Well Organized.

Perhaps the most important event of the week in Earlinton was the auspicious opening of our Public School at Assembly Hall Monday morning. There were several over two hundred pupils present at the opening ceremonies and many others will come in during this week and next.

About thirty of the youngest primary class of last year were on hand to take up their second year, and thirty-two little ones who had never been to school before began their school life Monday morning.

The principal, Miss Minnie Bourland, with her assistants, Misses Motherhead, Carlin, and Dean, the latter of whom has just recovered from an illness, were there and rapidly began the work of organization and classification.

Two of the trustees, W. F. Burr and Paul M. Moore were present and Mr. Burr addressed the school after musical, devotional and other exercises conducted by Miss Bourland. A great many of our people were there, including Mesdames C. H. McGary, H. S. Corey, Jennie E. Moore, J. B. Wyatt, J. W. Day, Miss Ethel Evans, Mr. Long, W. A. Toombs and J. W. Lester.

The new seats are comfortable and attractive and the new windows put in Assembly Hall for the special purpose supply a flood of light on a bright morning such as was the opening morning.

The opening is encouraging but all parents who have children of school age should send their children who were not there Monday. The children should be in school now unless they are ill. There is little excuse for keeping Earlinton children out of school.

COURT GRINDS.

Heavy Docket Begun Before Judge T. J. Nunn at Madisonville.

A large number of people were at the county seat Monday the first day of the September term of circuit court, Judge T. J. Nunn opened court with a heavy docket before him. Commonwealth's Attorney Gray is on duty.

The grand jury was chosen as follows: O. E. Slaton, foreman, D. R. Matthews, J. H. Wilkey, T. L. Oldham, Owen Blue, M. M. Wyatt, W. M. Hancock, G. W. Buchanan, J. N. Shannon, J. W. Crumaker, J. R. Mills and Lee Bishop.

There are 125 commonwealth cases and more than 150 equity cases. The cases that will probably attract more attention than any other is the trial of Will McGary, who was terribly shot, losing one eye and for a time expected to die, while he was Marshal of Slaughter'sville some months ago. He was shot by Jody Gooch who at the same time shot and killed Wren Ashby, who had been summoned to assist in arresting Henry Gooch, father of the man who did the killing. Some time afterward the body of Henry Gooch was found near the railroad in Slaughter'sville, he having been shot and killed by an unknown person. McGary was arrested charged with his murder and upon this charge will be tried on the fifth day of this term.

Several damage suits are on docket against the L. & N. and I. C. Railroads and one against the St. Bernard Coal Co. The city of Madisonville is defendant in three suits and a suit is brought against the city Marshal of Earlinton and his surety by a man who was locked up for disorderly conduct on the 4th of July and who charges false imprisonment.

Olney Notes.

The Beckhams and Brynaites here are rather blue and will not stake anything on their men.

We are again reminded that death is abroad in our country by the death of two Saturday night and one Sunday night. Tom Davis, an old bachelor, who lived alone with his hog, died Saturday night and was buried Sunday.

Miss Maggie English, one of our most charming young ladies passed away Saturday night surrounded by father, mother and friends.

The infant child of James Tucker died Sunday eve and was laid to rest at Lafayette Monday.

William Lynch will carry every thing before him in this country. You scarcely hear anybody say Allen.

A great many of our people were in Madisonville Saturday to see the big show.

Mercer & Winstead are closing out their stock of dry goods and groceries and are going to Missouri. They are nice gentlemen and we regret to give them up.

ONE OF THE BOYS.

EARLINGTON RELIEF TO GALVESTON Acknowledged by the Governor of Texas By a Letter.

The following note has been received by Mayor Burr from the office of the Governor of Texas acknowledging receipt of the check which was sent by citizens of Earlinton for the flood sufferers at Galveston:

"AUSTIN, Sept. 18, 1900. "WILLIAM F. BURR, Mayor, Earlinton, Ky.

"DEAR SIR:—I am directed by the Governor to acknowledge receipt of your remittance of $100.00 as a donation from the citizens of Earlinton to the flood sufferers of Texas, and to extend to you and the contributors his sincere appreciation of same. Very truly yours, N. A. CHAVEN, Private Secretary."

Media Items.

The whole community was very much shocked to hear of the sad death of Mr. Wm. Day. We sympathize very much with his bereaved wife.

John Jennings and Roy Ford took in the circus at Madisonville last Saturday.

Mrs. J. F. Story and Mrs. Lamb have been visiting the family of J. B. Lindie.

Among those who have been having chills are Mrs. Borders and daughter, Wyatt Ford, Mrs. Bostick, Mr. and Mrs. Lindie and Myrtle Wilson.

Ernest Jennings and sister, Miss Cornelia, attended the fair at Guthrie Saturday.

J. F. Story called at Hecla last Sunday morning.

Henry Ford has gone to Providence.

Bord, to Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Lindie, on Sept. 21, an 8-pound boy, Milton Story Lindie.

Mrs. Ford and Mrs. Knox have opened up a dressmaking establishment at the home of the former, and invite their friends and the public to give them a call.

Mrs. Carlton and daughter Belle went to the circus last Saturday.

Speaking Cancelled.

Arrangements had been made to have a joint political speaking here last night by Hon. N. B. Chambers and Congressman Henry Allen, but because of the deep pall of grief cast over the whole community by the sad death of our beloved fellow-citizen, Mr. J. W. Day, Republicans and Democrats alike were as one of the opinion that this speaking engagement should be cancelled. And this has been. There is much time yet before the election and the community is the gainer for yielding to impulses of respect for the memory of a beloved and worthy citizen and neighbor.

The directors of the Louisville Horse Show have deemed it advisable to increase the capacity of their building from 5,000 to 10,000. The arena will be 300 feet long. The show will be a very popular event.

LOCOMOTIVE BLASTS.

Supt. J. W. Logsdon spent a short time here last week.

Conductor John Longstaff was in charge of the Guthrie fair train last week.

Supervisor Edmonson was down the Madisonville branch last Saturday receiving lists.

Conductors Rosser, Brainwell and Patterson had charge of the circus trains while on this division.

A small wreck occurred at Madisonville last Friday night, which resulted in but little damage to either track or cars.

To accommodate the large crowd who want to attend the Elks street fair at Hopkinsville this week, a special train is being run.

At this writing, Conductor Thomas Browning is resting well and high hopes are entertained that amputation will be necessary.

A special train was run from Providence to Madisonville last Saturday night to accommodate those wishing to attend the circus.

Les Cozart is now the flagman on the Hopkinsville and Nashville accommodation and with the experience he has had in the train, service will make a good man for the place.

For one night only was the telegraph office at Kelleys opened last week, and that was to aid, if necessary, in the safe transportation of trains.

Quite a number of this prominent railroads of the East, says Troublemaker Mitchell, stand strongly censured as the chief conspirators that caused the strike there among the coal miners.

One colored woman who lately lost her husband through his becoming intoxicated and taking up his resting place on the track, where the cars forever put him to sleep claimed fifty dollars damage of the railroad, when she should have presented her claim to the saloon keeper who sold the poor fellow his last drink, which was the cause of his death.

Last Saturday night while Conductor Joe Brown was doing some switching at Greenbrier, a man by the name of Sam Smiley was found under the cars dead and badly mangled. It is thought that while in an intoxicated condition, he crawled under the cars and fell asleep and while enjoying a nap was run over by cars with the above result.

We understand the managers of the Forepaugh and Sells Bros. show highly appreciated the efforts put forth by railroad officials from Superintendent Logsdon down to see that not only were the trains moved promptly but safely, which was the case and always will be under such an efficient force as Trainmaster Devney, Chief Train Dispatcher Sheridan and the Trainmaster from St. Louis division, Mr. Sargent, who were in charge. There was no delay and no accident.

Red Hill News.

Jimlame Page is very sick with fever this week.

Miss Tula Crick had the misfortune to fall from a horse and break her arm a few days since.

Dame Humor says that we are to have a half dozen weddings near Red Hill this fall. What is a plainer proof of prosperity than this?

Reuben Miles, of near Madisonville, visited in this vicinity last week.

Z. F. Price and M. T. Hamby went to Hopkinsville Saturday.

Thos. Grace left a few days ago for parts unknown and there is a certain young lady near here with red and swollen eyes.

We would like for some one to tell us why you see so many McKinley buttons and badges and all of unusual size, which the Texas buttons are few and far between and all look small and dim. Probably it is expansion that makes them so.

J. W. Fyle has a new boarder in the form of a fine girl baby.

Henry Davis and Leo Price went to the show at Madisonville Saturday.

C. M. Parker and family will move to Earlington in a few days to make their home.

Ozle Denton is suffering with a sore throat this week.

J. B. Martini made a business trip to Hopkinsville yesterday.

Edgar Loug and family, of Caskey, visited J. H. Denton recently.

George Hood is ill at this writing. Tim Carroll attended the circus at Madisonville Saturday.

The school at this place is having very light attendance on account of sickness.

The Teachers' Association will be held at Orange Grove.

The dark and unweleome visage of death has again been in our midst and claimed as a victim one of the purest and best little girls of our community. On last Sunday night as the Holy Sabbath was merging into a busy work day the pure, sweet and loving soul of little Etha Bennett took its flight from this cold cruel earth and was carried across the dark waters on the snowy wings of an angel until deposited at the feet of the Blessed Savior, where all the pure and loving of this earth shall one day worship.

Little Etha was just twelve years old and a favorite of all who knew her; at school she was a sweet-tempered and dutiful pupil, a loving schoolmate and a friend to all. She died of typhoid fever and was only sick twelve days in which time she bore her sufferings with patience, always looking on the sunny side as was her nature in all things. Her remains were laid to rest in Old Petersburg cemetery Monday evening in the presence of a large crowd of friends and relatives.

To the mourning family and friends we say, sorrow not as we who have no hope, for we know that our dear little friend is not dead, but has only been carried up higher to become one of the little lambs, which our Savior loves so well, and if we are only faithful, a little while at the longest, we will meet and rejoice with her, in the paradise of God.

May the sacred little mound be kept green, watered by heaven's refreshing dew, while the birds build their nests in the trees overhead and sing as sweetly to the memory as they did to thee in the happy days gone by.

Another little lamb has gone. Another little girl.

Is sheltered in the grave. God needed one more child.

Amidst his shining band, And so he bent his smiling smile.

And clasped the darlings hand.

U. No. Hoo.

Does It Pay to Buy Cheap.

A cheap remedy for coughs and colds is all right, but it is not something that will relieve and cure the more severe and dangerous results of throat and lung troubles. What shall you do? Go to a warmer and more regular climate? Yes, if possible. If not possible for you, then in either case take the only remedy that has been introduced in all civilized countries with success in severe throat and lung troubles, "Doan's German Syrup." It not only heals and eliminates the cause to destroy the germ disease, but always inflammation causes easy excretion gives a good night's rest, and cures the patient. Try one bottle. Recommended by many years by all druggists in the world. For sale by dealers in all civilized countries.

To My Friends.

Having closed out my lively business at the Day is started, I wish to thank my friends for their liberal patronage and to request those indebted to me to make as early settlement of their accounts as possible. I am pleased to announce that having become connected with the well known and popular firm of Barnett & Arnold I am now better prepared than ever to give good service at reasonable rates and will be glad to have you call on me with my stand. Very respectfully, Geo. O. Toy.

Col. E. G. Seabree begins his speaking tour next Monday at Calhoun. He will speak at Madisonville and Earlington the following Monday, October 8, speaking at Madisonville in the afternoon and at Earlington in the evening.

Don't Get Thin

Get fat; get nice and plump; there is safety in plumpness.

Summer has tried your food-works; winter is coming to try your breath-mill. Fall is the time to brace yourself.

But weather is tricky; look out! Look out for colds especially.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is the subtlest of helps. It is food, the easiest food in the world; it is more than food, it helps you digest your food, and get more nutriment from it.

Don't get thin, there is safety in plumpness. Man woman and child.

If you have not tried it, send for free sample. It is the best thing you can get. SCOTT & BOWNE, 109 West Street, New York.

DOWN IN THE MINES.

Jack Dockery has located at Barnsley, where he will be close to the mine, where he works.

Several of the coke ovens are undergoing repairs. George Farnsworth has charge of the work.

Although business was good, last week hundreds of the miners found time to attend the circus last Saturday.

The coal operator in charge of the mines, where miners strike now exists, refuse to recognize the Miners' Union, and will treat only with the men individually.

Thos. Hodge, who for some time has had charge of the slack washer at the coke ovens has quit the job and returned to his first love, the carpenter's trade.

Mr. John Burden is now accused of going into the laundry business, which foreman Toombs says is confined exclusively to the slack washer at the coke works.

Mining Engineer Norwood, of the St. Bernard Company is so crowded with mine work and surveying on the outside for new buildings, that he gets but little time for rest or to talk politics.

Thousands of miners in the east now, through Mitchell's orders, are getting restless and will, it is believed soon return to work, and is the time for them to declare their independence.

John Steersman is among those, who consider themselves blessed as he is the father of a handsome boy, weighing ten pounds. It is safe to say John will now want an extra ton in the mines.

Foreman W. A. Toombs, of the St. Bernard Company, who on account of sickness of himself and daughters has been off duty for two months or more, again resumed charge of the builders last week.

After a few days hard work with the new motor at the Hecla mine, Manager Robinson succeeded as he always is in finding the cause of the trouble which was a defective conduction in this case.

We don't believe it is right if true as reports say that there is politics behind the big miners strike. If so they are evidently on the right road to again establish for the miners as it existed under Cleveland's last administration.

Bud Davis, of Madisonville, says there were quite a number of visiting agitators there on circus day. Of course that was a good day for them to find hearers. The miners of this county have long ago given them a deaf ear, and they naturally turn their attention to the farmers who good naturedly listen to their tale of woe, and they were numerous that day.

Scarcely had the order to strike been issued a week before bloodshed occurred. As a matter of course, efforts will be made by the strikers to shift the responsibility from their shoulders to those of the operators. When men do wrong and they see public sentiment, as it will in this case, turn against them, they are eager to throw the blame on the innocent, or in other words their acts make cowards of them, and why should it not. The very fact that Mitchell and his gang have placed something like three hundred thousand and paupers list, looks to like a crime. If a corporation would refuse to promptly pay off the men in their employ, and families were caused to suffer, at once an indignation meeting would be called by the public, and resolutions passed condemning said corporation. But here comes a labor leader, who should use his greatest efforts to provide work for the idle, and who does by his orders, rob over one hundred thousand miners, and two hundred thousand women and children of the necessities of life, the result being the same. Justice demands that, he likewise be censured.

The city aldermen of Louisville were lately petitioned by the "Princeton" of that city to give preference to work done by union labor, and below we give the answer, which the readers will find very pointed indeed:

Aldermen Mann, from the committee on printing, presented a report on the resolution, in which the following language is used: "Your committee desires to state emphatically that it is in no way law to or prejudicial to any labor unions or the Allied Printing Trades' Council, and it will offer no objection to the city buyer giving the preference to the union label on all city printing at the same price. It does not believe that any individual, firm, corporation, organization, party or denomination has the right to demand or expect city work at a higher price than others are willing to do it for."

The Board refused to concur in the report. President Ballard and Mr. Mann only voting in the affirmative. The question then arose as to the preliminary stage of the resolution in the two boards, and as there was no evidence against the resolution was referred back to the lower board to do with it as it saw fit.

Now the question arises, does the labor union object to free competition; if so, why? If it objects to free competition, does it not confess itself a trust? Is it consistent or right in labor unions to seek to pass laws to compel the city and the citizens to pay more for the city printers than other responsible bidders will do the work for? Are not the labor unions against trusts because they are raising prices and stifling competition? In this printing matter are the union printers trying to raise prices and choke off competition?

Do not labor unions arbitrarily limit the number of apprentices in shops they control? Is this not artificially regulating and restricting the competition? Is this not doing exactly what they condemn the trusts for? Are not labor unions tyrannical trusts?

The mass of the laboring people, like the mass of American citizens generally, are honest and mean to do right, but I would ask the labor union men, are not your unions trusts? Are you not regulating or trying to regulate, production, prices and competition exactly as you charge the trusts are doing? Come, let us all try to be fair; let us practice "live and let live;" don't howl against trusts and at the same time practice the methods which trusts are said to use.

The union labor people yesterday held great celebrations in all parts of the country. Everybody rejoices at the increasing dignity and prosperity of labor. Labor is honorable everywhere in the United States.

COUNTRIES WHERE OUR COAL FINDS MARKET.

At present the countries to which American coal could be carried with profit are those lying about the Mediterranean Sea, Spain, France, Egypt, Greece, the Black Sea, ports of Russia and Turkey. The South African market is not a profitable one. Ultimately the South American market may be taken away from England, but that is a matter resting wholly with future developments.

The Mediterranean ports are just the objective points of the American coal exporters.

This country never can have a large export trade in coal until it has a large fleet of coal carrying boats, and it is not believed by the coal operators that it will ever have such a fleet unless it subsidizes it. At this time the advantages enjoyed by England over the United States in the cost of construction and operation of its merchant marine is at least twenty per cent. Then, too, a vessel costing $400,000 to build and equip in this country can be got in Norway for $200,000. It is not believed, however, that there is any chance of a collapse of the coal export business with a cessation of the present business activity in Europe, although there may and probably will be some reaction.

Every ten years or so there is a high wave of business prosperity, followed by a reaction, but the reactions in prospect will probably be much less acute than in the past, and the coal men believe that in any event if they get their business once established along the lines now laid down, that it will be permanent, because coal could be carried into the harbors of South Europe at prices which England could not attempt to approach. Inquiries have also reached this country from Russia, Scandinavia, Austria and Germany, seeking under a dependence on America for coal, in addition to the coal of business with the countries already mentioned. Not a single one of the countries of Europe outside of England, produces a sufficient quantity of coal for its own use and England has been pouring coal into the markets of the world annually, into the continent. This is the business for which America is fighting, with an excellent prospect of coming out on top of the heap.

Aldermen Mann, from the committee on printing, presented a report on the resolution, in which the following language is used: "Your committee desires to state emphatically that it is in no way law to or prejudicial to any labor unions or the Allied Printing Trades' Council, and it will offer no objection to the city buyer giving the preference to the union label on all city printing at the same price. It does not believe that any individual, firm, corporation, organization, party or denomination has the right to demand or expect city work at a higher price than others are willing to do it for."

The Board refused to concur in the report. President Ballard and Mr. Mann only voting in the affirmative. The question then arose as to the preliminary stage of the resolution in the two boards, and as there was no evidence against the resolution was referred back to the lower board to do with it as it saw fit.

Now the question arises, does the labor union object to free competition; if so, why? If it objects to free competition, does it not confess itself a trust? Is it consistent or right in labor unions to seek to pass laws to compel the city and the citizens to pay more for the city printers than other responsible bidders will do the work for? Are not the labor unions against trusts because they are raising prices and stifling competition? In this printing matter are the union printers trying to raise prices and choke off competition?

Do not labor unions arbitrarily limit the number of apprentices in shops they control? Is this not artificially regulating and restricting the competition? Is this not doing exactly what they condemn the trusts for? Are not labor unions tyrannical trusts?

The mass of the laboring people, like the mass of American citizens generally, are honest and mean to do right, but I would ask the labor union men, are not your unions trusts? Are you not regulating or trying to regulate, production, prices and competition exactly as you charge the trusts are doing? Come, let us all try to be fair; let us practice "live and let live;" don't howl against trusts and at the same time practice the methods which trusts are said to use.

The union labor people yesterday held great celebrations in all parts of the country. Everybody rejoices at the increasing dignity and prosperity of labor. Labor is honorable everywhere in the United States.

COUNTRIES WHERE OUR COAL FINDS MARKET.

At present the countries to which American coal could be carried with profit are those lying about the Mediterranean Sea, Spain, France, Egypt, Greece, the Black Sea, ports of Russia and Turkey. The South African market is not a profitable one. Ultimately the South American market may be taken away from England, but that is a matter resting wholly with future developments.

The Mediterranean ports are just the objective points of the American coal exporters.

This country never can have a large export trade in coal until it has a large fleet of coal carrying boats, and it is not believed by the coal operators that it will ever have such a fleet unless it subsidizes it. At this time the advantages enjoyed by England over the United States in the cost of construction and operation of its merchant marine is at least twenty per cent. Then, too, a vessel costing $400,000 to build and equip in this country can be got in Norway for $200,000. It is not believed, however, that there is any chance of a collapse of the coal export business with a cessation of the present business activity in Europe, although there may and probably will be some reaction.

It is understood that the appointment of a City Judge of Madisonville has not yet been made positively. Mr. Beckham promised the place to R. B. Bradley, but has not yet issued his commission. C. C. Givens was the other aspirant and was appointed by the Madisonville City Council unanimously. But the acting Council retains the authority to appoint, and there seems to be some conflicting statutes upon this point.

Some mines each year performed an average of twenty full days of work at the rate of $2.50 a day. This schedule taken from the books of the Company, does not altogether agree with the statement of what we hear so much recently. ## RADICAL DEMOCRATS SCARED.

McCreary Telegraphs Orders to Make Apparent Concession on the Election Bill.

Frankfort, Sept. 25.—Realizing that his plans for passing an election law worse than the Goebel bill have been blocked by the united force of the Republicans and conservative Democrats, Mr. McCreary this morning telegraphed to his lieutenants in the Legislature, ordering them to make some concessions to the opposition. The exact wording of his message was withheld but the substance was as follows:

"Call a general conference of Democrats for this afternoon and use every effort to placate the conservative element." Agree to the abolition of the judicial power from State and County Boards, but insist that the Democrats have a majority on every County Board. If possible secure the incorporation in the new bill of the clause of the majority Senate bill, which provides that in Democratic counties the sheriff at every precinct shall be a Democrat and shall have a deciding vote."

COUGHS KILL

We know of nothing better than coughing to tear the lining of your throat and lungs. It is better than wet feet to cause bronchitis and pneumonia. Only keep it up and you will succeed in reducing your weight, losing your appetite, bringing on a slow fever, and making every light for the terms of consumption. Better kill your cough before it kills you.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral

kills coughs of every kind. A 25 cent bottle is just right for an ordinary cough; for the harder coughs of bronchitis you will need a 50 cent bottle and for the coughs of consumption the one dollar size is most economical.

"My cough reduced me to a mere skeleton. I tried many remedies, but they all failed. After using the Cherry Pectoral I immediately began to improve, and three bottles restored me to health. I believe it owes its life to it."

RALPH MORRAN, Brownsville, Va. Oct. 1, 1890.

For some reason that has not been advertised in the papers W. H. Borders is no longer deputy county assessor for the Earlington ministerial district.

Forty-five thousand native Catholics have been massacred in China, besides the thousands of foreign and native Christians of all other denominations. Isn't it about time that some politician should object to Uncle Sam's soldiers being in China?

Boss Croaker, who is for Croaker and the Ice Trust and Bryan, has been advertising the fact that he has made large bets on Bryan's election, without going to the trouble of confirming the expressed belief of many people that he is quietly hedging on the other side.

BEN C. KEYS, of Calloway County, was nominated by acclamation for Congress to represent the First district, at the convention of Brown Democrats, Populists and Republicans held at Paducah yesterday. It was a big convention and its unanimous and hearty action made the Goebel Democracy feel weak. This is the year that Kentuckians are putting patriotism before partisanship.

The Courier-Journal special correspondent who reported from Madisonville the other day was inspired to say that "the importation of negroes to Hopkins county had already begun." The people are wondering upon whose authority this stranger correspondent made this statement and where the negroes are alleged to be imported from and where to. They have not forgotten the clumsily made anonymous letter last year published in the Courier-Journal, and the fact that that story was refuted in every other paper except the Courier-Journal, which had not the decency even to correct the proven outrageous falsehoods which they promulgated without inquiring of their local correspondents in Hopkins county as to the facts in the case. The Courier-Journal thinks to begin earlier this year to lay the groundwork for Goebelistic racialism at and after the November election under the Goebel law. But it is expected that the honest people of Hopkins county will be found at work and determined to prevent any high-handed racialism on the part of the machine, if such should be attempted.

Responsibility for the Strike.

The strike so long threatened in the anthracite regions has been

CHAIRMAN JONES LETS THE CAT OUT.

Bryan admits that he would call our troops home and usurp power of congress to alienate national territory.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

come a fact, and a power of a few men, all perfectly irresponsible, to throw thousands of people out of employment if fully exemplified. This is a fearful responsibility to be shouldered by a few men drawn from the laboring ranks North and South. Not only are thousands of men idle and not gaining their livelihood, but millions of dollars of capital is deprived of its earning power, and the leader of a labor union is shown to be more absolute than any monarchical country in Europe. Of course it is understood and known that formal application for leave to strike had been received from the executive board of the U. M. W. of A., but it is not believed that it represented the wishes of the majority of the miners, who were realizing from $10 to $70 a month. How is it with the operators who have their capital invested in these properties? Few, if any, are paying dividends and yet the strikers want and expect capital to employ them at enhanced wages and continue to make absolute losses instead of gains. For years the wage scale has been the same, and yet the price of anthracite to the middleman, distributor and consumer has steadily receded. Therefore it will be readily understood why the majority of the men did not want to strike. The men, as a whole, are really better circumstanced than they were 25 years ago, and in a general way they realize it. Again, there is an entire lack of sympathy between the store-keepers, clergy and others. The mercantile community, as a rule, champions the cause of the miner when evidence of a convincing character is shown that the men are right, which in this case is wanting. Furthermore, the union leaders formulated demands which they had every reason to believe would not be considered, much less granted on such short order, and they must therefore be made to shoulder great responsibility of this strike, which it is hardly necessary to say, could have been avoided had the executive of the union exercised greater tact and conservatism. It will be hoping against hope, to expect that as the strike proceeds there will be no lawlessness, if there is it, the trouble must be sponsored by the union leaders.—Black Diamond.

Bradley on Hand.

Gov. Bradley, who has been in New York for some months past on private business has returned to Kentucky and is ready to get into the fight. His appointments will probably be announced by the Republican State campaign committee shortly. A telegram was received Sunday from Gov. Bradley stating that he would be in Lexington September 23. Chairman Combs spent Sunday in Lexington, and as soon as Gov.

Bradley arrived there they held a conference with reference to the part he would take in the campaign from now until election day.

Gov. Bradley is reported to be in splendid health, and he will no doubt make a most vigorous campaign in whatever part of the State the committee sees fit to send him. It is certain that he will speak several times in Louisville.—Commercial.

Wanted to "Lick the Spoon."

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Nov. 16, '99. PRATT SYRUP CO.
 Dear Sirs:—We have been keeping house for five years and are never without Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. We find nothing to equal it for stomach troubles and my children like it as well as candy. One night recently my wife was giving a dose to our baby, (1½ years old), and Nelda, four little girl, 3 years old cried for some time. Her mamma told her little girl, "I lick the spoon?" It is so pleasant to take, the effects are so good, we hate to be without Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Question Answered.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for Indigestion or Biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of Appendicitis, Nervous Prostration or Heart Failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing so useful the matter with you. For sale by St. Bernard drug store.

John Arnold, of Madisonville, was in the city Sunday evening.

His Boy Wasn't Killed.

A telephone call to THE BEE offices Monday afternoon from Nashville inquired for a young man named Ballentine, a printer, who was at this office one day in the spring and whose father is proprietor of a printing house in Nashville. They had received a letter from the boy last week posted at Earlington and supposed he was still here, but were in receipt of dispatches saying that a boy by the same name had been killed at Piedmont, Mo., by a train, and the mother was wild with grief. No trace could be found of him here except that some one had gotten a letter in his name at the Earlington postoffice and another letter awaited him here. News from his father yesterday says his boy is alive and on his way from St. Louis to Earlington, and that it was a negro who was killed. Another illustration of the trouble a wayward boy may cause his parents.

How Bright's Disease Starts.

Indigestion, biliousness, blood poisoned with urea and uric acid (which should have been detected by the kidneys), rheumatic pains in nerves and joints, causing irritation of the kidneys, then pains over the small of the back, mark sure approach of Bright's disease. Do not delay taking Foley's Kidney Cure. For it makes the kidneys right. Take no substitute. Campbell & Co.

EIGHT MEN KILLED; OTHERS MISSING.

The Loss of Property in the Track of the Twisted Quake Heavy-Building Lifting Bodily from Their Foundations, Carried a Distance and Crushed Like Eggs.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 25.—A Pioneer Press special from Earlhart, Minn., says:

"Word has been received here to night that a cyclone struck Morristown at 6 o'clock. Eighteen men were killed and a large number more are missing. Reports vary, however, as to the extent of the damage. A large tree was lifted from the ground and carried over a house top and deposited on a nearby building, which was used as a saloon. The house was completely wrecked, and the bodies of eight men were taken from the ruins. The report does not say how much damage was done to property there, but it is feared that the loss is not a small one."

A special to the Times from Earlhart, Minn., says:

"The storm came without warning upon the citizens of Morristown, from a southeasterly direction, passing over to the northeast. The length of its path in the village was less than half a mile, and owing to its peculiar action the distress and damage done were not as great as they might have been. The storm made good of one block, but whenever it came down everything was crumpled by the power of the wind."

"A barn belonging to B. L. Dargbelle, who lives on the outskirts of the village, was the first to be destroyed, and it was one of the freak features of the storm. The barn was picked up and carried a block, leaving the floor unshaped, with two horses standing on it. The building was crushed."

"From here the storm jumped a block to the saloon of Paul Gatske, before it reached the Gatske saloon there is a two-story building which was left untouched. All the people killed and injured in Morristown were in the saloon, having hurriedly taken refuge there when the storm was seen on the outskirts of the village. There were 16 persons in the saloon at the time the storm struck. The building was raised from its foundation and crushed like an egg-shell. But before the building fell three people managed to escape, and the other 13 were found in the list of dead and injured."

"After leaving the saloon the storm crossed the street and destroyed the home of J. P. Temple, and took the roof from the barn of W. M. Biggill. It then crossed the Cannon river, and destroyed the barn of Adam Snyder, killing several hogs."

"The storm then passed off to the northwest, and did no further damage."

BRITISH AT KOMATIPOORT.

The Bridge Found Intact—Much Rolling Stock and Ammunition Captured.

London, Sept. 24.—Lord Roberts reports from Pretoria, under date of September 24, that the guards, under Pore-Cole, occupied Komatipoort Monday morning. The town was found intact. Much rolling stock, locomotives and truck loads of "long ton" ammunition were captured. Only a few rifle shells were fired.

Lord Roberts adds:

"Pretoria has captured 1,000 sheep and 23 prisoners."

"Methuen has made another big haul of stock."

Lord Roberts also reports that the few Boer troops remaining in the eastern Transvaal are completely "out of hand" and says they are mostly burghers, the foreign mercenaries having gone to Lorenzo Marques, owing to the Portuguese government promising to maintain them while there and give them passage to their respective countries.

AN OBNOXIOUS ORDER.

Gold Miners Object to Promotions by Mine Owners to Protect Their Property.

Victor, Oct. 9.—The result of an obnoxious order, designed by the management to stop the theft of valuable ore, the Stratton Independent mine at Victor, has been a strike. The miners announce that they will not go back while the order remains in force, and the superintendent says the order will not be revoked under any circumstances.

Six other large companies have issued a similar order, and signed an agreement with the Independence company to enforce it. The order provides that all workmen must change their clothes both in going on and off shift, and pass naked before watchmen from one dressing room to another.

The superintendent of Stratton's mine says that the company has lost $5,000 of material, 1,000 per month through the pecuniary, if of workmen.

RELAXATION OF ANXIETY.

The Evening Question Now to "What Shall We Do to Relax Our Peace of Mind?"

Washington, Sept. 24.—With the three pending diplomatic notes bearing on the Chinese situation disposed of by answers to their respective powers, the attitude of the United States now is a waiting one. There was a general relaxation of anxiety apparent yesterday and the day, moreover, passed without any developments in the way of important dispatches.

Now that the notes are acted upon, the question of the commission to negotiate peace is again revived. Among other whose names were suggested last night, as one of the commissioners was Judge W. B. Bay, of Canton, the former secretary of state. Judge Bay served with the American-Spanish peace commission, and in all probability would be persona grata to China. His ill health, however, is a serious consideration which might lead him to decline if offered a commissionership.

A RELIC OF SPANISH RULE.

Porto Rico's Demand Against Cuban Asks Return of a Town Made to Spain.

Havana, Sept. 24.—Porto Rico's demand on Cuba for the return of more than two million five hundred thousand dollars, advanced to Spain to conduct military operations against Cuba, has been the source of considerable amusement here. Cubans are asking why they should repay funds lent to the enemy for the express purpose of subduing them.

Gen. Wood will return the documents forwarded from Washington to Gov. Allen, of Porto Rico, together with a memorandum couched in diplomatic language, pointing out that he is unable to take any action in the matter.

"Hildyard occupied Verburgh September 19, turning out the Boers from a strong position. The British casualties were few."

An Old-Time Newspaper Man Goes, Butte, Mont., Sept. 25.—Phil A. Julian, coroner of Silver Bow county and one of the best-known of the old-time newspaper men of this country, died suddenly yesterday morning of heart disease. He was a native of Washington, D. C., and 56 years of age. He worked on the Washington Republican in the early days of that paper, and on other papers at the capital. He had been on newspapers in Montana for about 15 years.

TAKEN BY SURPRISE.

A SEVERE CASE OF STAGE FRIGHT AND SPEECHLESSNESS.

—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

NEBO HAPPENINGS.

Everything on a Boom, and Politics Being Thoroughly Ventilated.

MANY OTHER NEWSY PARAGRAPHS.

Nebo is on a regular boom. The rattle of the coal and lumber wagon, the sound of the hammer and the buzz of the saw is heard day and night.

J. A. Hoffman has had a new roof put on his dwelling.

Mrs. Sallie Winstead has bought the residence of Mr. Galbreath and is to move to Nebo. Mr. Galbreath goes to Louisville.

Will Buntion, of Madisonville, was in Nebo one day last week on business.

Obadiah Utley who has been making his home in Missouri, returned last Monday. How long he will remain we do not know.

John Peyton and W. A. Toombs, of Earlington, were here Tuesday. C. B. Morrow, of Owensboro, was over last week. While here he sold his land to H. R. Cox.

W. B. Cox, of Richland, has bought the Bob Morrow farm and will move to it soon.

A protracted meeting is in progress at Rose Creek, conducted by Rev. Price and Woodruff. Considerable interest is manifested.

A. D. Melton, who has been engaged with a number of hands in moving the old store are getting along slowly. In about eight days and moved it about thirty steps.

We were so situated that we could not attend the Populist speaking last week, but are informed that a good speech was made.

Rev. R. M. Wheat attended prayer-meeting here last Thursday night. It was his last visit before conference. We cheerfully recommend him as an upright Christian gentleman and a devoted minister wherever his lot may be cast.

It is with sadness that we record the death of Walter Roland, son of Dan and Caroline Roland, who died Tuesday, September 18, of typhoid fever. The remains were taken to Rose Creek, where the funeral was preached by Rev. Woodruff and were then laid to rest in the Union cemetery, to await the Master's call.

Hons. N. B. Chambers, Republican, and H. D. Allen, Democrat, have appointments for Nebo Tuesday night. As we have but one house suitable for the purpose, one will be compelled to follow the other.

Political matters are beginning to be discussed by our lovers of club and will be thoroughly ventilated. The Republicans are in complete harmony, while the Democrats are divided. Some favor a new election law, some want the Goebel law amended, and some are in favor of letting the law stay as it is. For our own part we cannot see how they can favor the repeal, as they said last year that it was a good law. Beckham says it is a good law, and if it is repealed it will be only for the sake of gaining votes.

We are sorry to hear of the dangerous illness of Miss Martha Mitchell.

John H. Peyton is quite sick with malaria.

Mrs. R. S. Hill is suffering from an attack of malaria.

Our popular depot agent is very fond of bird hunting, and was the owner of a famous bird dog called Dan. A few nights ago at an hour when all honest people should have been in bed, some scoundrel, without any cause except the meanness of his own black heart, shot and killed one of the most valuable dogs ever in Nebo. Should M. T. discover the perpetrator of the deed, there would be another dog called to account.

Everybody and his family went to the show except Rusticus.

REMEDIES FOR RACE TROUBLES.

Bishop Walters Thinks Christianity the Most Potent Factor.

Henderson, Ky., Sept. 24.—Bishop Alexander Walters of New Jersey, President of the Afro-American Union, in his address at the Methodist Church last evening, summed up the remedy for the "race problem" by advancing the following program to be pursued:

First—In sections where lynchings occur the standard of morality must be raised.
Second—Respect for law and the rights of others must be taught in the home in the school room and by the press.

Third—The white man must rid himself of race prejudice.

Fourth—The negro must develop his morals; assistance of whites should be sought in establishing reform schools, orphanages, hospitals and schools of all kinds.

Fifth—Christianity is the one potent factor.

The Bishop said that the Gospel had done more and was doing more toward settling the problem than any other thing. This is the first time a colored man has filled the pulpit in a white church here.

DEATH SENTENCE

Is Passed on Jim Howard by the Frankfort Jury.

GREAT SURPRISE TO EVERYBODY.

From Louisville Evening Post.

The following are the names of the jurors in the Howard case, with their political affiliation:

Alvin Duval, merchant, Peaks Mill; Goebel Democrat.

Wash Crutcher, farmer; Goebel Democrat.

Rodney Hawkins, farmer; Goebel Democrat.

Sam Lewis, farmer; Goebel Democrat.

Wm. Baker, carpenter, Frankfort; Goebel Democrat.

Marine Webster, farmer; Goebel Democrat.

J. S. Wilson, farmer; Goebel Democrat.

Frank Baker, farmer; Republican.

Alex Bacon, farmer; independent Republican, formerly Populist.

Jerry Tracy, farmer; Goebel Democrat.

Samuel Cogswell, farmer; Goebel Democrat.

Robert Magruder, farmer; anti-Goebel Democrat.

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 26.—In these words Jim Howard read his doom:
"We, the jury, find the defendant guilty as charged in the indictment, and fix his punishment at death."

WASH CRUTCHER, Foreman.

So ends the second trial of cases growing out of the assassination of State Senator William Goebel.

The climax came at exactly 9:50 o'clock this morning in the chamber of the Franklin Circuit Court. Sitting between his lawyer and his best friend, Jim Howard, without change of face, without the twitch of an eyelid or the tremor of a finger, heard the sentence which, barring a new trial, or a reversal, means that he must hang by the neck until he is dead, dead dead. This mountaineer or iron nerve and iron front uttered not a word.

With steady step and shoulders straight he walked calmly back to his cell in the jail near by a few moments later.

The verdict apparently affected his lawyer and his friend far more deeply than it affected the prisoner himself. John C. White, of Winchester, seemed stunned for a moment, while Attorney Carlo D. Little's head sank between his shoulders.

"We didn't expect such a result," said White, slowly, in Howard's ear. But Howard uttered not a sound. His gaze was fixed rigidly on the faces of the jurymen, but his expression was not altered and his cheek had not paled.

WILL ASK NEW TRIAL.

"I have nothing to say further than that we will at once move for a new trial," said Lawyer Little, "and if overruled there will be an appeal. The motion for another hearing will be made tomorrow probably."

To almost everyone the verdict was a surprise.

Chris's Second Coming.

Many years ago, in the state of Connecticut, there came what has been known ever since as "the dark day." Suddenly a thick darkness came on, owing, no doubt, to some abnormal atmospheric condition. The colonial legislature was sitting at the time, and, being more superstitious than we are in our day, some of the members concluded that the day of judgment was young. In the legislature in those days in Connecticut the people all belonged to the Puritan church. The cry went forth: "It is the day of judgment! Let us go home and get ready!"

Then an old deacon of the Congregational church who was in the legislative rose and said: "Brethren, I do not know. The Lord may come, but when He comes I want to be at my post doing my duty up to the last moment. Mr. Speaker, I move that the candles be brought in and that we go on with the business of the colony."—Weekeyan Herald.

Living to Please God.

Every one who lives wholly to please God has a right to claim His protection. His direction and His help, not every hour only, but every moment of his life. It is more than mere sentiment to live. It is a serious reality, in which the hand, the head and the heart are all enlisted. The only way, therefore, for the Christian is to "commit" himself habitually, sincerely, unhesitatingly and with godly trust into the hands of Him who has warranted as in believing that all things have worked, do now work and will work in the coming-days for our good.—Christian.

THE BEST PRESCRIPTION IS Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic.

The formula is plainly printed on every bottle—hence you know just what you are taking when you take Grove's. Grove's contains Iron and Quinine put up in correct proportions and is in a Tasteless form. The Iron acts as a tonic while the Quinine drives the malaria out of the system. Any reliable druggist will tell you that Grove's is the Original and that all other so-called Tasteless Chill Tonics are imitations. An analysis of other chill tonics shows that Grove's is superior to all others in every respect. You are not experimenting when you take Grove's—its superiority and excellence having long been established. Grove's is the only Chill Cure sold throughout the entire malarial sections of the United States. No Cure, No Pay. Price, 50c.

The Brooklyn Eagle, a high-class independent Democratic newspaper, has been publishing a series of "Studies in American Character" that have attracted wide attention. In a recent issue it gave a character sketch of President McKinley that is so commendatory, and at the same time so faithful and true to life, that we have taken the liberty of reproducing it here, headlines and all. It is as follows:

A Typical American of Wide Experience Who Has Become a

would take all the resources of the government to prevent war with Spain, and while he employed every resort of diplomacy and was frequently engaged in the most delicate negotiations, the solution of the problem would be found, the increasing difficulties experienced by Spain in Cuba brought the crisis constantly nearer. Public clamor, especially in the United States, was not unlikeliest at such a time, and it was not unreasonable, for they are not. But they are touched to the quick by needless suffering, by cruel oppression, by pillage, outrage and murder, and with these things they are not content. The conditions and the unfortunate plight of their near neighbors constantly before them, it was not strange that the cry grew louder that a stop must be put to the warfare in Cuba and that the island sought from their mother country must be speedily accorded to them, or that to them must be given some form of freedom for which in the past they had so frequently fought.

A weak man, such as this crisis would have bewildered. Domestic matters of grave moment pressed upon every hand. There were unsettled the questions of tariff and finance, and scores of other subjects of internal politics. The President had to choose only in places to those whose support he had judged the administration in power, but for its own good cause, that at the end of its term of office it might give a worthy account of its stewardship. He was not to be a President who accepted passes at any price, or prompt war at the behest of a clamorous public. It is well not to forget the temper of the public mind at this time. The press trembled with bitter denunciations of the administration, and the demand for instant recognition of independence or for intervention was emphatic; the halls of Congress rang with appeals to prejudice and partisan feeling; and then, when all this was at its height, came the terrible calamity: the sinking of the Maine.

A week ago, he would have taken the easy alternative and yielded with much show of reason to the almost universal cry for vengeance. No greater test has come to any public man in the history of this country than to the President when he was asked to pardon the man in the White House kept his head. He comes of Scotch-Irish parentage; good stock. The women of that stock are model housewives, thrifty, helpful in communities. The men are not. They are the peace-lovers; they think for themselves; when they are assailed they take a firm grip on things. He had been educated in the common schools, and had been before the people for a generation in the most important positions of the government where one has to be known by one another. His career has been constantly upward. He had broadened in intellect and sympathies with each year of service. Affectionate and tender in the domestic relations, he was a stern disciplinarian. He scarcely had lost sight of the sturdy Scotch-Irish strain in his character.

GREW INTO THE PRESIDENCY.

With the record of his administration as President before them, his friends now realize what these years were doing for him. They look back now upon his services as Representative in Congress and as Governor of his native State, and recall the traits which only needed wider fields for their development. They recall how, frequently when before the people for their suffrages, he surprised his supporters and confounded his enemies by the simplicity and directness of his dealings with varied questions. Time

CONFRONTED BY A CRISIS.

This condition of great unrest and danger confronted William McKinley when he assumed the Presidency on March 4, 1897. From the day he entered never deserted the standard of the great doctrine of which he became the exponent and defender. So it was that his friends of these years watched with eager and hopeful interest his discharge of the great duties of the Presidency.

The Republican party under the leadership of William McKinley is more than ever before in the hands of a man than at any time in its history. In his state and nation he has a united front. He is a man of the people, a man of a weak man, as some of his opponents would have us believe? In this country, second only to the great times during the Spanish-American war when William McKinley was a young man, he has a reputation brushed aside jealousy and littleness, each, that hurried forward a movement which has made him a hero, a schemer and swept all before him. He dominates his administration, but, in the eyes of the people, he is a man, he is the strong man at the helm. His friends are direct. He has had his share of criticism, but he has a host of men of keen minds, of independent thought, but who have heard of disunion, and who have heard of secession. He is the guiding spirit, the controlling mind among those picked men of the cabinet, with them he is the friend and counsel. With them he is the man who when the Government is to act, when

He is a many-sided man, not restricted in his equipment. In the varied fields of administrative duty he has been called upon, during his three administrations, to take the lead and determine the direction of matters in many branches of the Government. In these he has shown a familiarity with the details of the work, and has not contented himself with those who have known it. Many of the state papers emanating from the executive departments and the courts have been written by him, or of his administration were inspired by him or were the work of his own hand. His mastery of diplomacy has been the result of his study of the subject. It has been his Americanism, his plainness of speech, combined with a certain Yankee shrewdness in the presentation of a subject or in the discovery of the points in an adversary's contentions.

In the conduct of the operations of our Army and Navy he has been the real commander-in-chief. When the history of his time is written his masterful hand will be seen at every turn. He took nothing for granted but the patriotism and integrity of the American people.

LEADS A METHODOICAL LIFE.
He is methodical in his habits, he is systematic. He accomplished much because of an orderly disposition of his time. When in the White House he arises at 8, breakfasts at 8:30; from 9 to 9:45 he reads the papers, and at 10 o'clock he is in his office ready for business. From 10 to 1:30 he receives the various public officials—Senators, Representatives—members of the staff.

at the various departments and the public. At 1:30 he has lunch. From 2 to 2:30 he spends with Mrs. McKinley, who is in the city on a visit. After a day's reading to her, During the warm weather he defers the drive until late afternoon. He goes to the White House office again and remains there until late in the afternoon, rarely leaving it. He is usually in the office when he is left before dinner he takes a short nap. Rising refreshed he is ready for dinner at 7:30. He usually has a short talk with his secretary and then he is in company with Mrs. McKinley and friends who call. Appointments are made for the following day. In the evening, except in special cases, he is at 10 o'clock the President is in his office. He usually reads the papers and his secretary until the accumulation of the day is disposed of. These hours at night are the most important in his life. At the twenty-four that the President has for the consideration of the mass of business that comes before him, he has no notice; even these are constantly encroached upon in times of stress and emergency. At 11:30 the President returns of the Spanish war the President remained in his office many hours of the day. He usually goes to bed at 11:30, staying there with his secretary long past

He is a plain liver. He smokes moderately, does not use intoxicating liquors. He is clean of speech as he is of character. He has been a model husband, a devoted son and brother, and in all the walks of life has so carried himself as to leave the impress of noble character. He is strong mentally and physically. He has no physical weakness. He walks with a decided and energetic step. While his face has a certain pallor under excitement, it has habitually the fine glow of a man in sound health.

The President is frequently seen upon the streets of Washington. He is not heeded about by the usual pride of the city, but he is surrounded by the most reasonable of men, the most accommodating. No citizen is too lowly to be consulted by him, and he is ready, why, but with all this he is a business man. He knows the value of time. He knows the value of money. He knows he has been chosen if he fails to use his own resources, and so it is that he is surrounded by the best of men, the best and most that is in him. He does nothing himself that others might do better. He has no special appointments for a purpose, to administer the affairs of their great departments. He has no special written account of stewardship. He does not interfere with them in the discharge of their duties. He is not a man to go into consultation. He requires a showing of their books. He draws upon their experience. He requires a showing of their policies. He relies upon them

His office is a model in the dispatch of public business. A keen judge of men he has surrounded himself with efficient helpers. From an ordinary government establishment, with very indifferent methods, the Executive Mansion has become one of the most practical and helpful of public offices. A position in the office of the President of the United States is today a post of signal honor, highly prized among the thousands of placed in the Federal Service in the same position as the Kinkead, believes in true civil service reform. During the first year of his administration, when his administration was repeatedly called to the inequities and injustices of the then existing civil service regulations, he ordered the collection of data which would enable him to make a study of the need to better these conditions. And when it was gathered together, and he had attained himself of the wisdom of the changes he promulgated the amendments to the civil service rules which have already demonstrated their value and become one of the most potent influences in the strengthening of the merit system.

His administration has not been one of bluster. There has been no blare of trumpets or resorts to the arts of the demagogue. A striking example of this is found in the settlement of the Pacific railroad indebtedness, when a vast sum was realized and the debt canceled without a ripple in the financial world, and with a saving to the government of many millions of dollars. For years this indebtedness had taxed the skill of our ablest financiers, and was one of the thorns handed down from administration to administration. Hawaii had been annexed, and from that day the government in Samoa we have emerged in undisputed possession of the best group of islands. A government has been provided for Alaska. A practical tariff law has been enacted for the Philippines. All are on the statute books. Any one of these measures would be sufficient for the record of an administration. Great results for liberty and humanity have been achieved in Porto Rico, Cuba and the Philippines.

Militarism and imperialism are terms gibbly spoken these days by the unthinking, and high sounding as they are, may appeal for the time to partisan expediency. They are the symbol of fine theories, but neither the one nor the other exists in America. Nor can the unbiased investigation, come to any other conclusion than that they are but words—campaign necessities—for those who must find a catch phrase or a platform. These are the days of fact against fancy; of things done against things promised; of practice against theory; of sense against nonsense; of men of action against men of straw; of flesh and blood against bugaboos.

Where is the evidence of this inflated imperialism? Is the President attended with pomp and ceremony as he goes from place to place? Has he surrounded himself with courtiers and retainers? Is there a word or a line in any of his State papers championing absolutism or a ruthless disregard of the rights of the people? He has earned while others have scoffed. He has fulfilled the obligations of his oath while others have vilified, have encouraged treason and cast their lot with the murderers of our soldiers. Devotion to the constitution is not well expressed by giving succor to the enemies of the gov-

No man in the Presidential office was ever more scrupulous in his conduct of the business, no man more conscientiously exacted office, had a nicer sense of its proprieties. No man was ever nearer the hearts of the common people than William McKinley. American diplomacy in China has had in it no element of either militarism or imperialism, but it stands today as an example to the world of what plain speech and direct methods can accomplish in the intercourse of nations. It is but a link in the chain of the administration's achievements. It is a link which carries a substantial advance of the republic in the pathway of progress and civilization.

From the hour of the declaration of war with Spain America has taken her proper place among the nations. Today she stands, the great, with no engaging frailties. With the destiny of the enfranchised in her keeping she undertakes the heavy burdens and responsibilities which come with growth and advancement. Ever alive to her material interests she has yet kept steadily before her of duty, and no amount of partisan rancor, no sort of cheap political argument, no diti, of sophistry, and assurance, no weakling reserve will stand in the way of her enlightened progress and commercial supremacy.

And because he has at heart the republic's best interests and with an eye single to her future greatness bent the energy of his administration to their achievement, while preserving the old principles and the old sentiments, abating nothing of devotion and adherence to the constitution, the Declaration of Independence and all the other great bulwarks of our national safety—because of this record in the closing days of the century, will William McKinley's name go into the history of his country as one of the greatest and best beloved citizens.

THREW A BOMB.

Louisville, Sept. 22.—County Attorney Morton V. Joyce threw a bomb into the ranks of the Goebelites when he issued an address, to them this morning announcing that he will vote for Yerkes and McKinley and telling why. He reviews Goebelism at length and says he cannot tolerate it, and says that while he was a silver Bryan Democrat in 1896, McKinley's administration has brought about conditions as desirable that they should be continued. Mr. Joyce says the country cannot expect anything better from the Democrats in the event of a change. Mr. Joyce was elected with Mayor Weaver, et al. in 1897.

TO DANGER OF SECOND TERM.

Col. William Jennings Bryan, the nominee of three parties for President, says in one of his letters of acceptance that he wants only one term of the presidency and that if elected this time he will not under any circumstances be a candidate for re-election. This promise is wholly unnecessary. If by any chance Bryan should be elected he will either go back on every important pledge in his platforms and speeches or precipitate such a condition of affairs in the United States as will make another Democratic victory impossible for a generation to come. It is indeed a useless formality for Col. Bryan to promise not to take a second term of the Presidency.

"Just as Senator Blackburn says, Mr. Yerkes is running ahead of Gov. Taylor in every county so far. Also Gov. Beckham is running well behind Senator Goebel. We could not be better satisfied with the results which are verifying Senator Blackburn's estimate so well. Basing estimates on counties we have already received, Mr. Yerkes will receive a handsome majority. Just how much he will run ahead of Gov. Taylor it would be hard to say right now."
